In The Matter Of Two Men

James D. Corrothers

One does such work as one will not,
And well each knows the right;
Though the white storm howls, or the sun is hot
The black must serve the white.
And it's, oh, for the white man's softening flesh,
While the black man's muscles grow!
Well I know which grows the mightier,
I know; full well I know.

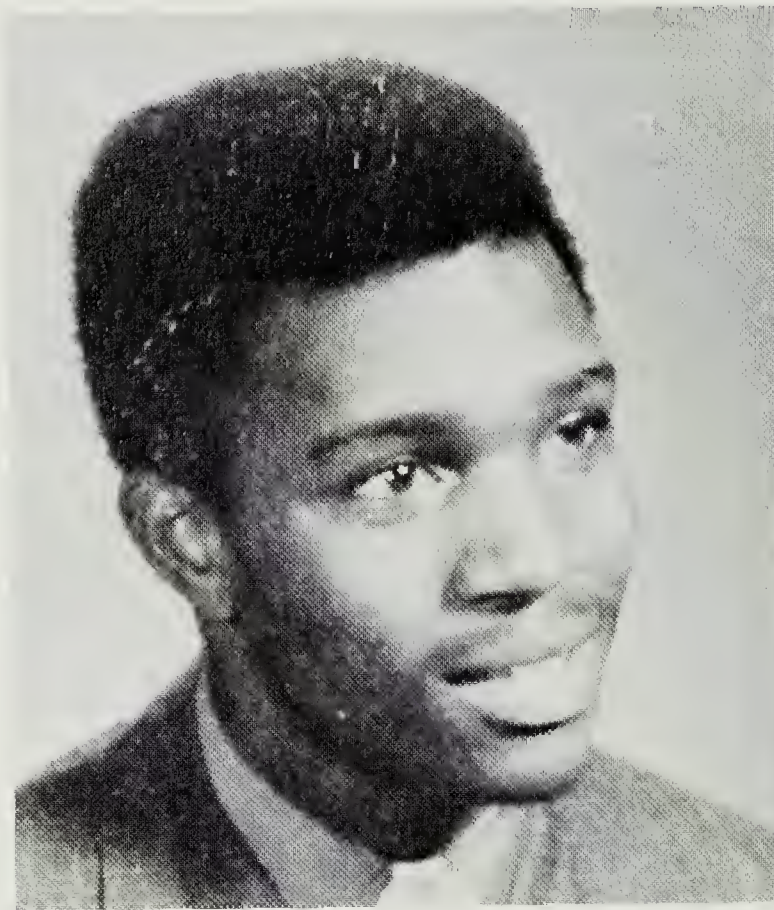

The white man seeks the soft, fat place,
And he moves and he works by rule.
Ingenious grows the humbler race
In oppression's prodding school.
And it's, oh, for a white man gone to seed,
While the Negro struggles so!
And I know which race develops most,
I know; yes, well I know.

The white man rides in a palace car,
And the Negro rides "Jim Crow."
To damn the other with bolt and bar,
One creepeth so low; so low!
And it's, oh, for a master's nose in the mires,
While the humbled hearts o'erflow!
Well I know whose soul grows big at this,
And whose grows small; I know!

The white man leases out his land,
And the Negro tills the same.
One works; one loafes and takes command;
But I know who wins the game!
And it's, oh, for the white man's shrinking soil,
As the black's rich acres grow!
Well I know how the signs point out at last,
I know; ah, well I know!

The white man votes for his color's sake,
While the black, for his is barred;
(Though "ignorance" is the charge they make),
But the black man studies hard.
And it's, oh, for the white man's sad neglect,
For the power of his light let go!
So, I know which man must win at last,
I know ah, Friend, I know!

DEDICATION

Richard Bates

Today I fell game to something I knew not of
The grief I shared with friends of love
To bare no blame who's fault it was
That brought death's angel from above.

He is dead and yet he lives
For he has nothing more to give
He lived a life with no regrets
Those who knew him, will not forget.

His face was cheery, seldom of frown
The features lit up with but a wee bit of sound
The thing we fear he has seen
Gone is the body, but memory so keen.

These words are written with enormous love but not of kin
How in the hell does one say good-bye to a friend!
These words and he, I know, are twisted by fate
But they are dedicated to Richard Joseph Bates

Editor's Notes

ROOSEVELT BARBOUR

The responsibility of preparing the '73 Tiger is now at an end. This task has provided various experiences which will enlighten our lives in years to come. Pictures are said to be worth a thousand words, but in some aspects they do not reveal the entire story. Viewpoints projected in the past tend to exaggerate the true phenomena of our college life. Saint Paul's has both the standards of great quality and the standards which tend to create destruction. We as Black students must progress as a group and not as individual personalities, if our alma mater is to become a great institution in totality.

To Helen Sharpe, James Green, Douglas Chapman, Brenda Stone, Lula Elliott, Betty Muse, Charles Bigby, Bruce Wilson, Charla Wesley, Earl Bowen, and Ruth Taylor, I say thank you for all you have done to help produce the Tiger '73.
